So you say
So you said it right
So you say
So you said it right

Waiting below
The sun's getting brighter
Downstairs, I dwell

So you say
So you said it right
So you say
So you said

Ceiling slowly squeezing me tighter
I'll lay down but won't run
Hoping now that this can get brighter
And that time will come

So you say
So you said it right
So you say
So you say

River is damned
I can't recorrect my path
Through this obstructed venture
It isn't flowing yet

Caught in his stare
Electricity travels through my wires where
They're reaching for it's core, electricity

Feeling sorry for yourself again
Feeling sorry for yourself again

So you say
So you say
So you say
So you said it right
