Thought we talked about this before
But now here it comes
Accusations from your friends
You believe every word
Thought I told you you're the only one
This lack of trust has got to end
I'm getting too damn old
To be playing games
The only one that I love is you
Instead you act cold
And say you wanna know her name
And I don't know what we're gonna do
Come to far to throw it all away
But if you can't trust me that's what's up
You can't look past what other people say
Then you don't love me that's what's up
Come to far to throw it all way
But if you can't trust me that's what's up
You can't look past what other people say
You don't love me that's what's up
