The wind it blows my face and my nose
There's a trickle that runs to my chin
The will is gone the heart strings are worn
They play over and over again

And it all comes from love my son
The words she gave to me
If you're brave enough to carry on
You might find one day that you're free
That you're free
Free

We beat a trail the wind and the hail
To the places we like to call home
The walls will fall
The faces we know disappear till you're there on your own

And it all comes from love my son
The words she gave to me
If you're brave enough to carry on
You might find one day that you're free
That you're free
Free

The day is gone night comes along
There's a beautiful red in the sky
The light will fade but life will remain
It just hurts me to watch it go by.

And it all comes from love my son
The words she gave to me
If you're brave enough to carry on
You might find one day that you're free
That you're free

Yeah
Yeah
Yeah
Yeah
