What would you do for a fool and his money?
A question you've thought before.
Your souls up for grabs, and a fool lies dead on the floor.

What would you steal from a man and his million.
When everyone would walk away.
A lifetime for a treasure, a pirate in a modern day.

Take a step up to the table.
Roll before you change your mind.
Guess you need to learn a lesson.
You'll find the house wins every time.

(Chs)-(Toss Of The Dice)-The devil always wins
(Toss Of The Dice)- The house wins every time.
(Toss Of The Dice)- When you wish upon a star.
(Toss Of The Dice)- But you went off way to far.

When would you lie for a crook and his money?
No longer practice to deceive.
The blood on your hands, above every law you believe.
Where would you go for a place to call home?
When you've burnt down every place that you've been.
Nothing for shelter, no bank to put your riches in.

Take a step up to the table.
Roll before you change your mind.
Guess you need to learn a lesson.
You'll find the house wins every time.

(Chs)-(solo)-(chs)
Toss Of The Dice, Toss of The Dice,
Toss of The Dice, It's all just a toss of the dice.
