I know it's hard to understand right now
After all you've been through somehow
These four words might not mean a thing
But as time passes
I think you'll hear the church bells ringin'
Everything's gonna be alright
I can tell by the way I feel this time
Everything's gonna be alright
I've been sitting up
All night long
Ever since the early mornin'
When you called
I can't describe
This idle haze and rage
I just wish I'd see you
Walk through that door again
It's about love
It's about time
It's about makin' it through the night
Everything's gonna be alright
Down in the basement
I heard the speakers say
What do you really want to do
Out in the sunshine
I heard the sunshine say

Won't you come outside
I wash the table
And I clean the clothes
I hum along
To the radio
Somehow I thought
I could deal with this a little better
I still think I can
With a little help from my friends
So catch the wind in the morning light
I close my eyes I still hear your voice
But that's not...my imagination...
Is it really you...
It's about love
It's about life
It's about makin' it through the night

Everything gonna be alright
It's about love
It's about life
It's about me
It's about time
Everything's gonna be alright
