Your make up is smeared down your face
From all the tears you cried as you left me Now waking up alone is harder then you ever believed Now your back again You did just damage us

(Your always) You were never ever there for me
When you were around you left a trace of fear in my mouth

(Your always) You were never ever there for me
When you were around you left a trace of fear in my
mouth

Does it break you up inside to see how far I've come?
Does it tear you up inside to see that I have a new life?

(Your always) You were never ever there for me
When you were around you left a trace of fear in my
mouth

(Your always) You were never ever there for me
When you were around you left a trace of fear in my
mouth

(Your always) You were never ever there for me
When you were around you left a trace of fear in my
mouth

You've got the gun I'm under your gun
So we build up a wall and tear it down

All of this and letters around
Do they really tear you up inside?
Make you wonder why?
Do they tear you up inside?

(Your always) You were never ever there for me
When you were around you left a trace of fear in my
mouth

(Your always) You were never ever there for me
When you were around you left a trace of fear in my
mouth

(Your always) You were never ever there for me
When you were around you left a trace of fear in my
mouth

I'm under your gun
