Chorus:

I am number three, sad as it may be
Never to be one, I thought I was the one
I am number three, face reality
Not even the two, feel like a stupid fool

Now I feel there's something lacking in me
Could it be my smile, could it be my face
Could it be my personality
For the first time I've decided to break free
To love with all my heart so open and honest
She is everything I've wanted

[Repeat Chorus]

You know I tried to give her all that I am
I tried to make her laugh, tried to make her smile
Tried my best to make her feel alright
But now I know that I was not alone
And she had a one and two and a three and four
I just couldn't take it anymore

Cause I am number three, how did I come to be
Was I just not smart to give her all my heart
I am number three, is that all I could be
Did I give too much, my heart is not enough

I am number three, is that all I could be
Did I give too much, my heart is not enough
I am number three, sad as it may be
Never to be one, I thought I was the one
I am number three, face reality
Not even the two, feel like a stupid fool
