

Drowned

"Is There Something Else"

Visit "Is There Something Else" on MotoLyrics.com

You should have finished what you started
Instead of leaving my heart departed
With a promise of something better on the other side
I stayed up all night just thinking
But tonight I'm gonna try drinking
Happy face with a broken heart waiting for a call

Is there something on your mind
That you haven't told me yet
Some pretty little words you long to say

You should have told me what you wanted
Instead of making my heart feel taunted
With a taste for something sweeter, never felt before
I'm gonna send this simple love song
You've got to know I've waited too long
Last chance for sweet romance just a word away

I'd sell my soul for a couple of phone calls
And everything else has been put aside
I try to talk but the words don't come out right
Can't deny that love's like suicide

Visit Drowned page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.