Standing in the rain
The cold and angry rain
In a long white dress, a girl without a name
She stood beneath the light
Glowing like a candle bright
I guess it doesn't matter anymore

I pulled along the side
And offered her a ride
Like the rolling mist, she floated inside
As we drove away
She had nothing to say
So i guess it doesn't matter anymore

No i guess it doesn't matter anymore

I, believe, some things can't be explained
They are hidden in, the mist, and in the silver rain

The road was long
It ran on
When i heard her singing, her silent song
I knew the melody
From my memory
But i guess it doesn't matter anymore

Say i guess it doesn't matter anymore
And i guess it doesn't matter anymore

Finally she spoke
Come pull off the road
Saying she was, headin home
I turned and she was gone
I was all alone
But i guess it doesn't matter anymore

Say i guess it doesn't matter anymore

I, believe, some things can't be explained
They are hidden in, the mist, and in the silver rain

As i walked away
No reason to stay
She had faded back,into the grey
A whisper in the trees
You could hear it in the breeze
Say i guess it doesn't matter nymore

Say i guess it doesn't matter nymore
No i guess it doesn't matter anymore
And i guess it doesn't matter anymore
