Many years I've been away from home
I have faced too many battles
Hours here upon the endless road
Have left me bruised and battered

I have heard the secrets of the streets,
But I keep them to myself
On display, but here inside my soul
Like a trophy on a shelf

Hand upon my heart I know
The moon will light my way
Oh my friend, the winding road
Will the life of a journeyman never change?

'Round the corner, down the narrow trail,
My boots are wearing thin
I can feel the heat upon my back
The sun against my skin

Far away I could have sworn I heard
The ringing of a bell
Through the miles you know it's hard to tell
When it's you against yourself

Hand upon my heart I know
The moon will light my way
Oh my friend, the winding road
Will the life of a journeyman never change?

None of us will ever know
What lies around the bend
All the world becomes your home
On a road that never ends

Hand upon my heart I know
The moon will light my way
Oh my friend, the winding road
Will the life of a journeyman never change?
