Once written in the stars
A pathway set in stone
A candle in the night
To guide your way back home

Then somewhere in your memory
Calling from afar
It's daring you to see
What it is that's written in the stars

Once written in the stars
A pathway set in stone
A candle in the night
To guide your way back home

Then somewhere in your memory
Calling from afar
It's daring you to see
What it is that's written in the stars

You said that you would stay
And that you'd never leave
I gave you all I had
When I chose to believe

Love like magic casts a spell
Sometimes leaving scars
I guess it's just as well
Not to know what's written in the stars

Still written in the stars
And written in your eyes
The prophecy fulfills
The dream that never dies

A shooting star lights up the night
While the earth stands still
And somehow we lose sight
While following what's written in the stars
I want to know what's written in the stars
Please tell me what is written in the stars
