I was thinking back today
And I remeber everything
Like all the things we used to say

I will be, And I will show
Follow me, Wherever I go

But that was so long ago
You assume that I've forgotten
But how could I ever forget you
I know, I'm having trouble letting go
Though it was so long ago

I was over you today
And now I've dug up everything
Sometimes it seems so hard to face

I will be, And I will show
Follow me, Wherever I go

But that was so long ago
You assume that I've forgotten
But how could I ever forget you
I know, I'm having trouble letting go
Though it was so long ago

You're the sunlight on my face
And you're the one I can't replace
Everything just seems to fall apart without a trace

(I will be)
You're the sunlight on my face
(I will show)
And you're the one I can't replace
(Follow me)
Everything just seems to fall apart without a trace
(Wherever I go)

But that was so long ago
You assume that I've forgotten
But how could I ever forget you
I know, I'm having trouble letting go

Though it was so long ago

so long ago

You assume that I've forgotten

But how could I ever forget you

I know, I'm having trouble letting go

Though it was so long ago
