I have seen whats left for all the rest of you
And its not what you think that it will be
For the gift and the curse of whats been shown to you
Never give, never bend - its all a lie to you
And all you do is seem to remind me
I cant believe what I feel it is taking
Of all the times and the ways I would have died for you

And this is all the thanks that you'll show me...
The light for me
If you had shown
The things I'd know
That now I'd see

When the dreams and the truth came colliding
This is - not the same not now, never, no not again
And the same can be said for all the rest of them
See the strong and the weak divided
For all the pain I have
And all you do is seem to remind me
Yet I feel alive
Of all of the times and the ways I would have died for you
And this is all of the thanks that you'll show me

If you had shown
The light for me

The things I'd know
That now I'd see

If you would show
The light for me
That now I'd see
The things I'd know
Energy as I feel it calling

Cannot see through the cloud thats forming (Now I see that it's coming after)
Looking for the thing that's calling
Blinding as it passes before my eyes
Now I see that it's coming after

Now I see that it's coming after...me
Now I see that it's coming after
Now I see that it's coming after

If you had shown
The light for me
The things I'd know
That now I'd see
