So it's Friday night
My favourite time
And thinking back
When you were mine
Another time I sang, "You're mine"
This paradigm
Is changing all the time

The smell of the trees
On nights like these
On the streets where we lived
Means more to me

Walking past that house and I
Think about your face and I
Wonder what you think and I
Know I miss the time we tried

Racing down the road and I
Face the truth again and I
Wonder where you are 'cause I
Know it's you who changed the tide

So it's Friday night
Ten past nine
Now it's time
Go out for a good time
Another time I sang, "You're mine"
This paradigm
Is changing all the time

The smell of the trees
On nights like these
On the streets that we lived
Means more to me
The lights on the street
The walks in the dene
The sound of your feet means more to me

Walking past that house and I
Think about your face and I

Wonder what you think and I
Know I miss the time we tried

Racing down the road and I
Face the truth again and I
Wonder where you are 'cause I
Know it's you who changed the tide

Walking past that house and I
Think about your face and I
Wonder where you are 'cause I
Know it's you who changed the tide

Walking past that house and I
Think about your face and I
Wonder what you think and I
Know I miss the time we tried

Racing down the road and I
Face the truth again and I
Wonder where you are 'cause I
Know it's you who changed the tide

I, I, I, I wonder where you are 'cause I
Know it's you who changed the tide

It's changing all the time

So it's Friday night
Go out for a good time
