"Run Away"

See life through broken glass,
The pain it comes in stabs,
The remedy is fast,

I'll get high this one last time,
Think straight and clear my mind,
Cause tomorrow I'll get well,
I've said this all before,

I'm only a run away,
But tomorrow I'll be back to stay,
I'm only a run away,
We could all use just a little change,

She's running low on cash,
Sold her soul and then her ass,
Never thought it would get this bad,

The crave is cancerous,
Tells herself she's had enough,
One more line is all she needs,
To find her way back home,

She's only a run away,
But tomorrow she'll be back to stay,
She's only a run away,
We could all use just a little change,

Is this the end of me?
Who is the enemy now?
This thing is taking me down,

Only a run away,
We could all use a little change,
You're only a run away,
We could all use just a little change,

You're only a run away,
But tomorrow you'll be back to stay,
You're only a run away,
We could all use just a little change.
