Look into these eyes of mine and take away my pain
Fall into my arms, tonight, let the world around us fade
The rain will fall, our hearts will break
But still I will be here beside you, right beside you
When the world is against you, I will protect you
Darling we'll be an army of two
When your life's going wrong, our love will be strong
Darling we'll be an army of two
When the burdens of the world are on me, an people seem unkind
I just need to be beside you, you give me peace of mind
And when I fail to be everything, I tell you I will be
I know in your eyes I'll find, forgiveness for me
The rain will fall, our hearts will break
But still I will be here beside you, right beside you
When the world is against you, I will protect you
Darling we'll be an army of two
When your life's going wrong, our love will be strong
Darling we'll be an army of two Oh forgiveness and you give me completeness in everything you do
And I know when I'm lost in this desperate world, you're my refuge
I want to fall down at your feet, whilst beside you in the street
Be proud that you are here with me, in front of everyone
When the world is against you, I will protect you
Darling we'll be an army of two
When your life's going wrong, our love will be strong
Darling we'll be an army of two
