Cracked and broken lines of speech
Can you focus through this mess
All sides of this place have been covered at least once

Am I chasing words in circles
Or searching for an answer you had for me
Was anything new to you
Was anything worth your time

We're all on our way down

Way down
Locked in one position where failing looked so easy
Way down
Locked in one position where failing looked so easy
Way down
Keep me standing

Can you hold me together

Are these motions wearing out
Have these expressions all been read
Blank stares of frustration never answer back
Am I chasing words in circles
Or searching for an answer you had for me
Was anything new to you
Was anything worth your time

We're all on our way down

Way down
Locked in one position where failing looked so easy
Way down
Locked in one position where failing looked so easy
Way down
Keep me standing

Can you hold me together
