There is a swan white curtain Somewhere within the sky It's known of every sermon and every anguished cry The howls of hopeless people frightened and alone

There is a spotless silver mirror that hangs within the moon It's witnessed every winter
The cities charred and ruined The herds of homeless people filling all the roads

Some may pray to their mirrors some may kneel before the sun Me I say there is a mirror in the heart of everyone bullets paint the blue distance the mirror's stained from every gun still i say that it glistens

in the heart of everyone

And there are golden whispers Within the afternoon They've held the brothers, sisters Felt the mother's wounds the broken-hearted people burying their own

Some may pray to their mirrors
some may kneel before the sun
Me I say there is a mirror

strike the bell and we listen light the candle and we're shown the gods themselves throwing incense as all the world begins to glow such a flame, such a mirror

such a flame, such a mirror
in the heart of everyone
of everyone
of everyone
of everyone
