

Duran Duran

"Before The Rain"

Visit "Before The Rain" on MotoLyrics.com

A stormy summer is rolling closer
Lighting up this holy smoker
And if this drinking could ease the thinking
I toast to my home truth with this glass

All rise, you promises broken
Call my lovers by their names
Lost hearts and words that are spoken to the wind
Which blows before the rain

Little pin pricks and how my ears bleed
On the bomb ticks that is my heartbeat
In every life flash, in every car crash
I hear the silence waiting to fall

All rise, you promises broken
Call my lovers by their names
Lost hearts and words that are spoken to the wind
Which blows before the rain

For all I carry are murdered secrets
The price of my blue star eyed weakness
And so we travel and we unravel
Towards the place where all loose ends go

All rise, you promises broken
Call my lovers by their names
Lost hearts and words that are spoken to the wind
Which blows before the rain

Visit Duran Duran page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.