El Diablo

enter newborn players and gather weigh their innocence only the brightest shine but not forever
many lights die, many tears rain when those tears run dry on a mountain madness day you were just in time for a foolish deal ... a lover sold i can't stand another howling day inside of this empty skin while the beacons burn a flame please return from so far away one life with the devil do i play for so long el diablo is to blame

oh el diablo, el diablo, won't you sell me back my soul?

weddings on the wind, will she blow my way? he can dance and she can sing she will tear your heart away while the promise burns a flame and will you return from so far away?

one life with the devil do i play
for so long, el diablo is to blame
one life with the devil do i play
for so long, el diablo is to blame one life but the devil is in my way
