(Jean-Alain Roussel)

Who d'you think you're kidding?
You walk out on my life
Now, you're back again
And you think that nothing's changed
Denying superstitions, defying traditions
It seems like we've been through this before
Now, it's gonna be like starting all over again
Oh, baby, don't you know?
It's gonna be like starting all over again

I gotta get used to you
I gotta get used to you, again
I gotta get used to you
I got to get used to you, again

You know I love to feel you
Reach the depth of my heart
Deep inside of me
The way it used to do
I've had so many lovers
No-one could ever tame me
They all seem to rub me the wrong way
They always get my back up
No-one seems to do the things that you do for me
And now that you're back in my life again

I gotta get used to you
I gotta get used to you, again
I gotta get used to you
I got to get used to you, again

I gotta get used to you
I gotta get used to you, again
I gotta get used to you
I got to get used to you, again

I gotta get used to you
I gotta get used to you, again
I gotta get used to you

I got to get used to you, again

I gotta get used to you
I gotta get used to you, again
I gotta get used to you
I got to get used to you, again

I gotta get used to you
I gotta get used to you, again
I gotta get used to you
I got to get used to you, again

I gotta get used to you
I gotta get used to you, again
I gotta get used to you
I got to get used to you, again
