Words & music by Dwight Yoakam

I'll give you three good reasons for leavin'

And number one is that I've forgotten number two

Number three is in a place that's been kept hidden

For so long I can't remember but its true

I'll give you three more reasons for leavin'

With the first no worse or better than the next two

But rest assured that the third will leave you grievin'

From a tale that's as sad as it is true

Every night

All night long

I sit and count alone

But every day

Nothin's new

I can't find one to use

Every night

All night long

I sit right there and count alone

But every day

Nothin's new

I can't find one to use

I'll give you three good reasons for leavin'

And number one is that I've forgotten number two

Yeah number one is I've forgotten number two

Number one is that I've forgotten number two
