"A Life-time Before"

Now that we have met
I looked at your face behind your blue eyes there's a timeless space don't know why you ignore me and I regret that you won't see me there's no solution the only conclusion but my feelings tell me more about a life-time before now that we have talked I hear your words the sound of your voice causes something that hurts now that you've left I remain here alone the emptiness there is makes me hope to know you again
