Gommorah's Season End

From the core of my being comes this promise to myself
that I won't break my honor before all.
A one-way mission through life, I won't change my course.

There's far too much to experience and accomplish
to waste a precious second drunk or hazed.

An effective revolutionairy through the clarity of mind
that I've attained.
I see it all for what it is as Gommorah's Season Ends in the grave.
So many have become demoralized
that now a change must be forced
or all will perish in the lunacy once it befalls.
Parasites gnaw at the basis, their vulgar ways bring pointless ends.
Perpetuating the degeneration.
In this self is all I need with this oath that keeps me
free.
To this I am forever true.
I am straight edge.
