You're not the best, but you're getting there Don't think you've already made it There's always time for compromise, hah, that really brings you down to size You think you're doing alright, away from home every night
You've done it all, trying to succeed
Because it's all, all you've ever needed

Chorus:

Madness, money and music, inside outside, screaming won't you let it be Madness, money and music, heaven's door or the gates of hell for me Like heaven or hell I know where I'd rather be

You give them all you've got to give, you've got your own life to live Just some time to rest a while, just enough to do it in style
And when there's nothing left at all, you realise the problems were small You try again with one night stands
But it's too late, you've let it slip from your hands

chorus
