Windy evening, all the sky is aglow
From a moon I never knew
She burns so beautifully that it aches in me
Cause the only thing missing is you

Woke in the morning with the sun on fire
She was smiling like new
And the world is as green as its ever been
But the only thing missing is you

When the light pours through the shadows
When the bird sings through the storm
When we love without hesitation
The way you showed us how
When we throw our fears out to the endless sea
When we dance as freely as a child
When we gather here in our joy and in our tears
We'll always be thinking of you

Shine on us from Heaven as you did in life
And we'll try to understand why the Lord must need you even more than we do
The only thing He was missing was you
