From time, to time
I've almost can mask myself there I was over you
And I've even pretend their intended
We never really happy on any way
But sometimes, like now, I realize I'm missing you
But then I really didn't have a thing to do today

Called up someone I know
To ask her out tonight

But I just wound up making small talk
And we just passed the time away
Then I hang up and got the thinking
Of that last time up in you
But then I really didn't have a thing to do today

I'm facing up at last to what I tought was past
Wondering if our memories ever go away
And now, i'm tryin to learn to lip with always loving you
But then I really didn't have a thing to do today
