

Ed Harcourt

"Coal black heart"

Visit "Coal black heart" on MotoLyrics.com

There's a scarecrow in the field
But it don't scare those crows away
I'm so happy on my own at home
I listen to the static of my record player

Sometimes you have to have a break
Feed the ducks out on the lake
All I want to do is make you smile
But I'm not that funny and I can't seem to stay awake

Coal black heart that is as lifeless as a statue in the Royal Academy of Art
I saw your face in the mirror
Memories of a bygone era
Coal black heart that is as lifeless as a statue in the Royal Academy of Art
I saw your face in the mirror
Memories of a bygone era

I was as blue as the Caspian Sea
Hanging out in my vicinity
Got a feeling this will end, so soon
You're moving to the San Francisco scene

Crimson heart that's as lifeless as a statue in the Royal Academy of Art
I need to know that you're happy
I need to know that you're happy
Crimson heart that is beating in my ear and I don't know where to start
I need to know that you're happy
I need to know that you're happy

Oooh (x8)

Visit Ed Harcourt page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.