If time has no beginning and if time has no end
A billion years, a trillion years, what then?
Is infinity a circle, an eternal loop?
It can drive you crazy, searching for the truth

Someday
Will we know all about it?
Have no reason to doubt it
Someday

Before we were babies there's nothing we recall
And when we go back, will it fade to black and that's all?
Or could we be destined for some other time and place
And have we lived other lives, our memories have erased?

Someday
Will we know all about it?
Have no reason to doubt it
Someday

Will we see Jesus comin' as the sunshine fills the night
Or when we die, will we fly into the light?
Will we all be reunited with the ones who've gone away
And will we love each other the way we do today?

I believe, someday
We'll know all about it
And have no reason to doubt it
Someday

I believe, someday
We'll know all about it
Someday
