The days of March felt so long
The months and years, what went wrong?
I couldn't wait to see your face again
When it's Sunday at the bottom of my heart

You came to see, you seemed to know
You took away all that I own
And now that I have strength to say goodbye
It's Sunday at the bottom of my heart

Why are my kisses not sweet enough?
Why, when I touch you do you long for someone else?
Well now you will learn
How loneliness burns

One last love we make
One last love mistake
The memories will come and help
To guide us through the pain

One last love we make
One last love mistake
Today we go our separate ways
Tomorrow brings the rain

If you are only afraid
Of all the words I could say
I should have held you to give you strength then tell you
I'll love you till my life has gone away

Why are my kisses not sweet enough?
Why, when I touch you do you long for someone else?
Well now you will learn
How loneliness burns

One last love we make
One last love mistake
The memories will come and help
To guide us through the pain

One last love we make
One last love mistake
Today we go our separate ways
Tomorrow brings the rain

Please don't tell me again
Save our love from the end
You say it will be, but then you came to kill me
To thank me for the love you always had

One last love we make
One last love mistake
The memories will come and help
To guide us through the pain

One last love we make
One last love mistake
Today we go our separate ways
Tomorrow brings the rain

One last love we make
One last love mistake
The memories will come and help
To guide us through the pain

One last love we make
One last love mistake
Today we go our separate ways
Tomorrow brings the rain

One last love we make...
