Oh,
Don't you know,
That everything and everyone will never be the,
Same,
Don't play these games,
Because you'll never win if you don't have confidence.

I know I could catch up to you someday,
But you're running so fast,
And I know everything has to count,
That happens in our past.

Oh,
Don't you know,
That everything and everyone will never be the,
Same,
Don't play these games,
Because you'll never win if you don't have confidence.

And I know that though our past haunts us,
We should always look to tomorrow,
And though tomorrow might be better,
We should always live for today.

Oh,
Don't you know,
That everything and everyone will never be the,
Same,
Don't play these games,
Because you'll never win if you don't have confidence.
