Our lives have passed us by right in front of our eyes,
You've grown so much this year why are you surprised?
Sixteen short long years we're dying everyday,
This all may come as a shock, are you gonna be okay?
Okay so everything's not what it seems,
But everybody's talking 'bout you and me,
Well I know everything could be just fine,
Who cares if some things are out of line?
Everybody working so hard anxious to be adults,
Don't you know the shit in this world is mostly their faults,
Getting older not caring is wasting the world away,
Day by day we're goin down, are you gonna be okay?
Okay so everything's not what it seems,
But everybody's talking 'bout you and me,
Well I know everything could be just fine,
Who cares if some things are out of line?

So why don't you slow down, take your time,
Living your life for the moment, never was a crime.
Growing up these days can't be as fun as they say,
So hold on to yourself, and just take things day by day.

You said you'd never grow up look at you now,
Your bossing people around but you wonder how,
The world goes on without you that's one sure fact,
The world will never miss you ever to be exact.
Okay so everything's not what it seems,
But everybody's talking 'bout you and me,
Well I know everything could be just fine,
Who cares if some things are out of line?
Everybody workin so hard to make it on their own,
Why don't they just take a break, it's ok to be alone,
Just live for the moment just live for today,
Do what you want right now I promise it'll be okay...
Okay so everything's not what it seems,
But everybody's talking 'bout you and me,
Well I know everything could be just fine,
Who cares if some things are out of line?

So why don't you slow down, take your time,
Living your life for the moment, never was a crime.

Growing up these days can't be as fun as they say,
So hold on to yourself, and just take things day by day.
