I, I, I dropped a question and my my, everything they said of it you rewind time but I keep forgetting it flies out of my mind and goes you, you all of me wants to runaway through you your lips are my honey baby beautiful

your kiss is the flame letting us run free on a tank full of gasoline she rolls the window right down to the floor there are feathers in the air she gives me room to breathe and that is why I love her is all you're feeling a genuine draught cause I saw you lightning there must have been thunder the sky was dividing the clouds pulled me under spinning me in to the white floating water I go she opens me up leaving no question

then drops me an answer I get the impression yeah I feel her lips touching my cheek her kisses,
I get one to keep
