Out on the street there's some problems that we know Some would like their freedoms But the others have control Still some believe it doesn't matter if they know The answer is not waiting for you But you can't hear the words with your fingers in your ears

There's a choice you gotta make
If reason is dead than enforcement is the only other option

For an isolated view

I ain't got no money
So how can I participate
I don't think it's alright
That people have to die
It's sick that ethics have to wait
While some heartless fucking asshole
Makes some money watching people die
