We're living your life on earth
You're just a part of the universe, my brother
Listen...Since I'm walking around with you
We might as well try to get to know each other

Because jealousies keep man constantly, too defensively, toward one another

Russia and China too
Well the U.S. don't know what they're gonna do about each other
There's a chance of a third world war
And it scares me 'cause I've seen films of Hiroshima

I'll be looking at a world where no one's first
Where angry arms can open and embrace
Where men can live together, loving one another Easy enough to seek for you and me, brother

Jealousies keep us constantly, too defensively toward one another
Life on earth, take it for what it's worth
Save the universe, love one another

[sax solo]

People living your life on earth
You're just a part of the universe, my brother
Since I'm walking around with you
We might as well try to get to know each other
Because you know and I know

Jealousies keep us constantly, too defensively toward
one another
Life on earth, take it for what it's worth
Save the universe, love one another

Jealousies (jealousies, jealousies)
Jealousies (jealousies, jealousies)
Jealousies (jealousies, jealousies)
Jealousies (jealousies, jealousies)
