There's a plane coming in at nine
I'm gonna leave a little early, wanna be there on time
Cos my baby's flying in tonight
And I really can't believe I'm gonna look in her eyes
And my heart is racing down the road
But there's something that my heart don't know

She ain't coming back to stay the night
She's just coming back to make things right
To tell me face to face the truth
She's found somebody new in her life
No, she ain't coming back to stay this time
She's just coming back to ease her mind
No, she ain't coming back to stay
She's coming back to say goodbye
She ain't coming back to stay
She's coming back to say goodbye

She sees the lights of the city below
In just a couple of minutes we'll be kissing hello
And she acts like she's reading her book
But she's thinking how happy I'm gonna look
And already there's a lump in her throat
How will she tell what I don't wanna know

She ain't coming back to stay the night
She's just coming back to make things right
To tell me face to face the truth
She's found somebody new in her life, in her life
No, she ain't coming back to stay this time
She's just coming back to ease her mind
No, she ain't coming back to stay
She's coming back to say goodbye
She ain't coming back to stay
She's coming back to say goodbye
She ain't coming back to stay
She's coming back to say goodbye
She ain't coming back to stay
She's coming back to say goodbye
