(Ben Peters)

There in the glow of early dawn
I wake to find that I'm alone
And turn off the arm clock she always used to wind
Yes, that's when I get baby on my mind.

I make instant coffee just for one
I scrape off the toast that's over done
Then I sit there pretending I'll get along just fine
And that's when I get baby on my mind.

And all through the day, each hour I'm away
No matter what I do I always find Although we may be far behind I still got baby in my heart
There's too many mem'ries she left behind
And that's when I get baby on my mind...
