You started a flame I can't drown then told me you see me around

All I have to do is get a glimpse of you and then

That's just enough to start me dreamin' again

You promised a love I could hold then you turned away so distant and cold

All I have to do is hear about you from a friend

And that's just enough to start me dreamin' again

And as long as I dream you'll be on my mind

And lately I've been dreaming all the time

All I do is think about you and the dream that didn't end

And that's just enough to start me dreamin' again

And that's just enough to start me dreamin' again
