Drive-in shows covered with snow but we never felt the cold We bought us a blanket we always meant to thank it for hugging us so close In kick around clothes at downtown in windows we posed
I cling to your warmth while you're tugged on my arm
Our eyes passing funny little notes

Long life lots of happiness good wife lots of pretty kids
We gotta be one one happy time

It was a bitter wine our first sip of time then we drank till the sweet stuff ran dry Through sunshine and roses the winter's red noses the days softly tiptoeing by Now they're the good ol' days as they come back to play on my mind
The laughter the pain how we fought off the rain
We lived by those silly old lines

Long life lot's of happiness...
Long life lot's of happiness...
