You do not know
And you don't care
And you may never learn
I made approaches
You gave me teeth
And got my hope injured

Unprepossessing, that's what you say
-don't get the essential point
What it came down to was you ain't got nothing
Here's to the wicked and here's to the odd

You got your chance going down the drain
You're dumping the catch of the century
You've had your chance but you're much too vain
To take it
The catch of the century

Nobody's waiting cause all the world seems like
It's already spoken for
A host of rivals-I'm out of vogue and
I'll be forevermore

You strut around sneer from on high
I'm on the road again
I'm going down with flying colors
Before I go down on somebody else

You got your chance going down the drain
You're dumping the catch of the century
And lady's luck got her ass in pain you're wasting
The catch of the century
