The carpet looked like it would fly away
In the candle light as the music played, and you embraced
The taste was on his lips
Straight from the vine to his fingertips on your waist
Ooo lover my love.
Hidden dreams since you were a girl
The mystery of a hidden world revealed to you
You felt the rise of butterflies.
The look of kindness in his eyes appealed to you.
Ooo lover my love.
I had a fanstasy, and you made it true for me.
I had a fantasy and you made it true for me.
Before morning comes and the songbird sings through your window.
You'll be up and gone and he'll fall asleep on your pillow.
Ooo lover my love.
I had a fantasy, and you made it true for me.
I had a fantasy, and you made it true.
