Step inside my head, and see it's not mine.
Feels like I've been dead for such a long time.
Spaces have been filled, so don't leave me out.

Wishing that I'd been all the right things,
Hoping that you'd seen the comfort I bring.
All the time in the world is in sight for us.

Tempting passing through, feeling without you.
Being alone is true, it's not the same without you.
And it's never been the same.
And I'm fighting this curse I'm leaving today,
And it won't be the one you made.

You can take all you want, scream all you want, cry all you want,
But just let it go 'cause I'll never see you again.

Let's take this up.

Step inside my head, and see it's not mine.
Feels like I want to be dead for such a long time.
Spaces have been filled, so don't leave me out.

Tempting passing through feeling without you
Being alone is true, it's not the same without you.
