We've fallen in love with distant lands We've offered it up with both hands Though we've left no frogs unkissed
I think there's something that we've missed

We've read the self-help shelf ten times over We've worshipped gods
we can't name
And though we've combed the land for the four leaf clover
We've lost the pieces to the game

We're just looking for a shepherd moon
That will let us go and just fall in
It won't let us stray or flee too soon
It'll just lead us back home again

We feed our kids
a balanced meal We talk about our feelings With Supermom still at the wheel
We're somehow left reeling

Somewhere in that ring of moons
I think something's awaiting us Something simple
I hope something soon Something that's gonna redeem us

We're just looking
for a shepherd moon
That will let us go and just fall in
It won't let us stray or flee too soon

It'll just lead us back home again

So no more serving our hearts on silver platters
No more clinging to the northern pole We're finally gathering up what's been scattered We pledge allegiance to our souls

We're just looking
for a shepherd moon
That will let us go and just fall in
It won't let us stray or flee too soon

Don't give me none of your 800 numbers
You can keep your money back guarantee My neuroses just may be the 8th wonder But I'm happy to just let it be

Don't sell me none of your psychic healing Real healing doesn't grow on tv Stop capitalizing on our feelings Real healing is always free
