Please keep calling me
Please keep calling me
Please keep calling me

Can I pierce the armor
Can I crack the shell
Can the barrier come down
Even if your heart is meltable
You're larger than life
And harder
Doin' handstands against the door

Please keep calling me
Please keep calling me
Please keep calling me

Can I melt the glacier
Can I touch your heart
Can the barrier come down
Could you let your heart this close to the knife
You're larger than life
And harder to fathom
So I wait
And so I watch for some kind of sign
That's larger than life
And harder to bury down inside
