Girl

You did this to yourself.

I wish your good heart and good health

Once, your ships were coming in

Now your hands have shed the final skin

Scratching in the dark, in the dark with no remark

And you're human yet.

Searching for belief, with the grit in your teeth

And you're human yet.

Babe

You did this to yourself.

I wish your good heart and good health

Once, your ships were coming in

Now your hands have shed the final skin

Scratching in the dark, in the dark with no remark

And you're human yet.

Searching for belief, with the grit in your teeth

And you're human yet.

Scratching in the dark, in the dark with no remark

And you're human yet.

Searching for belief, with the grit in your teeth

And you're human yet.

A human yet

Human yet
