An angel has broken it's wing
The songbird is too sad to sing
You're off on a morning train
I stand at the gate and wave
And no matter what I say
I know you've gone away
As I cry with the eyes of a child

You gave me everything
To be who i needed to be
And i'm half expecting to see
You smiling and walking to me
And no matter how hard i pray
I know you must go away
As i cry with the eyes of a child

An angel has broken it's wing
The songird is too sad to sing
And no matter how hard i try
We all must say goodbye
As I cry with the eyes of a child

And though memories sometimes fade
I'll look back on this day
And cry with the eyes of a child
