She's a true original
Not some store bought rebel
She can find her own way and whom
You'll just have to let her

Whatever every path she finds,
It's hers to take
And if she says she's fine
I'll just have to wait for her

She's an artist in the world
She composes from the heart
The finish on her's always there
Well before she starts

And any time she might
Get the words from
You just turn it up and you
You sing along with her

And if a gun was pointed at her
I would stand between the bullet and her
And if not being with me is what makes her happy
I'd take that bullet too

Whatever every path she finds,
It's hers to take
And if she says she's fine
I'll just have to wait for her
