You're my friend,
you've done a lot of really nice things for me and I won't forget them, do you know how much you mean to me
and no matter what I'm doing you were there for me without you my ship will surely drift at losted sea just when I think I've ended you too much you always find a way to come throw in the clutch and you don't make me feel I owe you, but I do

You're my friend from the day we met till the better end
I don't know how i could have made it any other way you're my friend coming throw again and again, your good will, I never will betray

Sweet charity, all the nice things that you do for me I can't forget them, do you know how much that means to me sweet charity, no matter how I screwed up you were there for me without you i can't say how dark the days would be

you always find a way to come throw in the clutch
and you don't make me feel I owe you but I do

you're my friend, coming throw again and again
your good will, I never will betray

you always find a way to come throw in the clutch
and you don't make me feel i owe you, but I do

you're my friend, coming throw again and again
your good will, I never will betray

You're my friend
