(Chorus)

The touch of death is coming, there's nowhere to escape

Your life is slowly fading into your hollow grave

You can not be saved

You can not be saved

(Blaze)

There was once a man that couldn't die

In fact to this day that man is still alive

He lives in the cosmos on the edge of time

Little kids have heard of him, in nursery rhymes (he's the dead)

But he walks among society carrying a sickle and a shotgun

With a touch of death, and death's hands

He's a young, dying, unstoppable, dead man, you'll know

(Chorus)

The touch of death is coming

You'll know

There's nowhere to escape

You'll know

Your life is slowly fading

You'll know

Into your hollow grave

You'll know

You can not be saved

You can not be saved

When death is upon us, come with me right now, and don't be afraid

I've been alive for many centuries

Watched new kings replace old kings

Seen empires overthrown with war

Disease and sickness, for rich or poor

Armies form and prepare to fight

Damn what a battle it lasted twenty nights

19 days, 12 B.C. to think nobody ever heard of me

I'm in the afterlife that's where I grew

Watched a whole lot on a thang or two

Come to find out their afraid of you
If you don't die exactly the way they do
They knew I wasn't right from the start
With jet-black blood to match my black heart
Found out quick that the world was cold
'Fore anyone even had a soul, understand

(Chorus)

The touch of death is coming, understand
There's nowhere to escape, understand
Your life is slowly fading, understand
Into your hollow grave, understand
You can not be saved
You can not be saved
When death is upon us, come with me right now, and
don't be afraid

Colton Grundy past life experience
Different time my friend, delirious
All of those memories just blur together
So understand sometimes I don't know no better
But I'm kcab (back)
But I really ain't go nowhere
I sit here surrounded in dark countin' dead
Looking for someone to give this pain too
Looking for someone to feel the way that I do, like me

(Chorus)

The touch of death is coming
Like me
There's nowhere to escape
Like me
Your life is slowly fading
Like me
Into your hollow grave
Like me
You can not be saved
You can not be saved
When death is upon us come with me right now and
don't be afraid

Hey man! He done fucked yo' ride up!
