Dawn finds it's prayer
The drops on my face
When words die on my lips
And clothe you in silence

She laid me softly on her heart
So safely cradled...
In her arms

My world lives it's memory
Moments stay still in me
You're gone, your scent lingers
Like the sun on my fingers

She laid me softly on her heart
So safely cradled in her arms
She laid my head into sleep
So safely cradled

So safely cradled

Nothing can take it away
Who could take me?
No nothing can take it away
Who could take me?
Oh, nothing can take it away
Who could take me?

She laid me softly on her heart
So safely cradled in her arms
She'd lay my head into sleep
So safely cradled
So safely cradled

I will leave
With these words
I never got to say
To you...
